

New Farm Shop and Cafe!

Well, we have finally finished the new farm shop and cafe, a year from first starting. The new farm shop is four times larger than the space we had before, so we have lots of room to sell 'all things chilli'. The Cafe opened on Friday the 15th of April and we are very pleased with the way things have gone so far and the encouraging comments from our customers. We are all looking forward to the Summer when we can add fresh chillies to the menu, like the wonderful Spanish tapas dish, Pimientos de Padron. Please pop in and say hello if you're passing, and let us know what you think.

The Cafe Team

Elsa (second from left) has done a fantastic job organising the kitchen and menu, and getting the cafe off to a great start. Picture - one of our first customers with Elsa, Katy and Mel.

The Menu - something for everyone

We hope we have something for everyone on the menu. As well as the 'chilli-theme' meals, we also serve traditional Cream Teas and Pasties (with chilli chutney on the side!). A copy of the current menu can be down-loaded from here: Cafe Menu.

Farm Shop

In our new farm shop area, you can still taste all the products from the farm and we have a new expanding range of other chilli delights. We hope to collect all the very best chilli products for you to try.

New Road Sign

We've upgraded the road sign - you can't miss us now! The Plant display is not planted just yet, but should be planted up by the end of May.

Apple Blossom Galore!

This is the first year since planting that our apple trees have been covered in blossom. With a bit of luck, the bees will be busy and we'll have a good crop for our chilli apple jelly this year.

Digging the Tunnels

The green-manure has been rotivated in and we have started planting again - two tunnels done, six to go! The spring weather has been good for germination and seedling development - long may it last.

Seedlings in the greenhouse

Thanks for reading - more next month.
